2. [ ] Not being able to make contact with Charles Meissner, Senate Foreign Relations Committee staff, contacted Scott Cohen, Executive Assistant to Senator Charles Percy (R., Ill.), to advise him that we have the papers on the Middle East situation which Senator Percy had requested and asked for his advice on the specific manner we should follow in providing the information to the Senator. The Senator is in Chicago but Cohen will check with Meissner and let me know the results.

Cohen asked if we could determine if we ever employed a [ ] who has written the Senator a letter from Muskogee, Oklahoma, saying he is a former CIA agent of 20 years, recently retired, and wants to provide the Senator information on his experiences. Based on the results of a subsequent check, Cohen was later advised that we had no record on this fellow including in our crank file.

3. [ ] Called Clark McFadden, Senate Armed Services Committee staff, in follow up of his request to Mr. Cary yesterday on our ability to detect Soviet testing of MARVs. The material, provided by Mr. Zellmer, DDS&T, was delivered via Mr. Cary today.

5. [REDACTED] Contacted Timothy Ingram, Counsel, Subcommittee on Government Information and Individual Rights, House Government Operations Committee, in connection with his request and told him that we knew of no master computer network as alluded to in the NBC program of Ford Rowan and that the other allegations that the White House, IRS, and Treasury had direct access to our computer banks was also equally false. I said we did have hookups with certain elements of the intelligence community on certain foreign intelligence matters. I said we hope to have a more complete answer on these questions raised on behalf of Louise Becker, Library of Congress, early next week.

6. [REDACTED] Called W. E. Cresswell, Administrative Assistant to Senator John C. Stennis (D., Miss.), concerning Mr. Colby's letter on [REDACTED] and Cresswell requested that we deliver the letter to him in the Senator's office at 0900 hours on Monday morning even though I offered to have it delivered later today or during the weekend.

7. [REDACTED] Received a call from Bill Raiford, Congressional Research Service, Library of Congress, who asked whether the Agency FOI data had been up-dated in the Federal Register since 1972. After conferring with [REDACTED], I advised Raiford that it was up-dated on 19 February of this year and provided him with the date and page numbers in the Federal Register.

8. [REDACTED] Called Julie Marshall, in the office of Senator Dick Clark (D., Iowa), and told her that the briefing for the Senator on Portugal was set for Monday, 16 June, at 2:00. [REDACTED] [REDACTED] OCI, will do the briefing.

9. [REDACTED] Took a call from Thomas Hipple, Legislative Assistant to Representative Andrew Jacobs, Jr. (D., Ind.). Hipple had a copy of the book by Philip Agee and was confused regarding the identity of Agee and David Phillips, and he wanted to know who was who.

13. [REDACTED] Representative Bob Wilson called to say that a constituent has contacted him about an individual who presumably is a former CIA employee but is now working in some capacity with [REDACTED]. Wilson said the individual uses the name of [REDACTED] and a telephone number of [REDACTED]. On the basis of our checks with Personnel, Security and DDO, I advised Wilson later in the day that we had no record of the employment of [REDACTED] but we did have information about him indicating that in the 1965-66 time frame he had represented himself as an employee of this Agency and another instance as recent as 1968. I told Wilson we had no idea of the significance of the telephone number he gave us and as he knew, we had no basis for making an inquiry with respect either to [REDACTED] or the telephone number. Wilson said he understood and thanked me for the information I had given him. He said he might also check with FBI but I asked, in doing so, that he not give any indication of an Agency referral. He said he understood.
